INTRODUCTION

Every year, Ahlia University hosts a Careers Expo for all Ahlia students and alumni. Our careers expo is an important way for the University to help our students begin successful careers.

We are delighted to report that 2018 saw 50 private companies, training institutes and government authorities exhibiting. Each organisation was invited to set up a stand and hundreds of students and alumni were able to speak with representatives of the organisations and discuss potential career and training opportunities.

Our 2018 Careers Expo was a highly successful event allowing our students and alumni an easy and informative opportunity to discuss their future. Our graduates are highly sought by organisations and private companies throughout Bahrain and the GCC enabling them to undertake positions with some of the top organisations within the GCC.

We strongly believe that our students should be given both academic and practical experience while studying at Ahlia, and every student has the opportunity to undertake an internship before they graduate.

This gives our students a chance to understand the working culture and ethics and to develop employment skills such as communications, working to deadlines, the impact of their role and understanding direction. These skills contribute to life long success and make Ahlia graduates to be the best in Bahrain.

We would like to extend our gratitude to all the companies, organisations and training institutes who contributed to making the 2018 Careers Expo such a great success and we look forward to welcoming you back in 2019.

Tamkeen is an initiative funded by the private sector for the private sector, tasked with developing Bahrain's private sector and positioning it as the key driver of economic development. Established in August 2006, Tamkeen is one of the cornerstones of Bahrain's national reform initiatives and Bahrain Economic Vision.

Tamkeen has two primary objectives: Firstly, fostering the creation and development of enterprises, and secondly, providing support to enhance the productivity and growth of enterprises and individuals.

Under each of those objectives, certain mechanisms and innovative support initiatives have been put in place by Tamkeen to address current and future gaps for individuals and enterprises in the private sector that have been identified by thorough studies of the labour market landscape.

For Bahrainis, Tamkeen's programmes range from developing the skills and capabilities of Bahrain's human capital, to promoting sound workplace ethics and training on leadership and management best practices, among others. For enterprises, Tamkeen provides programmes which offer enterprises with subsidised business support services, facilitate access to financing to bridge the enterprise financing gap, and enable entrepreneurship, to name a few.

To date, Tamkeen's programmes have benefited 100,000 Bahrainis and enterprises in the private sector.

In parallel, Tamkeen's programmes have played a key role in institutionalising new concepts within Bahrain's private sector, including SME and micro-financing, entrepreneurship as a viable career path, women empowerment, modern accounting and auditing systems within SMEs, and many other paradigms needed for a vibrant sustainable private sector. Tamkeen's funds come from fees collected from the Labour Market Regulatory Authority.

The Telecommunications Regulatory Authority (TRA) was established in 2002 promulgating the Telecommunications Law in the Kingdom of Bahrain. The Board of Directors oversees the activities of TRA led by its Chairman, Dr Mohammed Al Amer. The General Director, Mr Mohammed Bubashait, is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the Authority.

Ever since its inception, TRA's focused on liberalizing and developing the telecoms sector by promoting an effective and fair competition between established operators and new entrants while protecting the interest of consumers.

The drive to pave for a more robust and dynamic telecoms industry continues with the change in market dynamics; this has fuelled an unstinting resolve to augment service levels and exceed expectations on all fronts. TRA as per the Third National Telecoms Plan is requested to address areas of disadvantage such as mobile service, ultra-fast broadband, international supply, digital security and internet eco-system.

TRA also believes in creating value; positioning telecommunications as a pillar of social and commercial growth for the Kingdom of Bahrain. Since 2002, more than 2,600 jobs were created – a 50% increase – and the industry has accounted to 4% of the GDP.

TRA's culture is driven by business excellence and continuous learning; as it invests heavily in the training and development of its employees. An integral element of its internal frameworks is innovation – as TRA promotes innovation across all departments and levels.

TRA aims to ensure that the communications environment in the Kingdom meets consumer expectations - in return it has launched a number of initiatives. For example, Bahrain was the first country in the MENA region to introduce the Fixed Number Portability and in 2011, 22,000 consumers switched providers.

It was 2003 when a small IT firm, with the founder and an IT Developer, was founded by a Bahraini IT specialist, who is a graduate of Computer Science from the University of Bahrain, 1999. The small firm was established within the premises of the Business Incubator of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, Bahrain, in Hidd City.

With a visionary eye, the founder, Jaleel Al Sharaf, decided to call his small firm: IDEAS, which stands for: Innovative Development of Enterprise Applications and Solutions. Six months later, IDEAS shifted its office away from the incubator, trying to get closer to the business area in the capital; Manama, after it was successful in building a good reputation in the market in a very short time.

Between the years 2003 and 2007, IDEAS, under the leadership of its founder, managed to secure an advanced position in the local market of Bahrain by relying on its talented team of national experts and the international alliances with the world big names in the Information Technology industry. In year 2008, Sharaf managed to turn the page of the small firm to open the new page of IDEAS HOLDING GROUP, which is an umbrella that shades a number of specialized business units complementing each others to provide the market with Total Business Solutions characterized by uniqueness, comprehensiveness, simplicity and innovation, through its pole of expertise.

At present, IDEAS HOLDING GROUP specilized in Software Development, Software Consultancy, Mobile App Development, Network Infrastructure, Information Security, Creativity & Media and Training Solution & Services. Since its establishment, ideas has been awarded several national and regional awards, among of which comes: King Hamad Performance Excellence Award 2006, Bahrain; Bahrain e-Content Award 2005, 2007, and 2009 (several client projects); Sawaed Award 2009 for the Best Project in the Arab World and Best Business in the Arab World Award 2010 by Sh. AIESEC is a global, independent, non-political, not for profit, youth run organization. AIESEC doesn't discriminate on the basis of gender, sexual orientation, disabilities, creed or religion nor on the basis of national ethnic or social origin. AIESEC has one vision across the years and its 126 countries. That is "Peace and fulfillment of humankind's potential" which is achieved through placing confidence in youth as they are the key to unlock a better future, as we believe as an organization that leadership is a fundamental solution and it can be developed in anyone. Through learning from practical experiences in challenging environments provided in our different programs.

Throughout the 10 years of existing in Bahrain, AIESEC has been able to develop people from all of the ages and areas of life as it creates programs for women empowerment, developing the community for the elderly, orphanages and people with special needs, education & entrepreneurship for university and schools' students. Since its foundation in Bahrain it enabled a lot of entrepreneurs like Aisha Al-Oraifi the founder of "Bossy kitchen", Shahd Al-Zaki Founder of Mieviento and many more. In addition to the impact it had on other communities by sending Bahraini youth abroad to help rural areas in countries like India, Egypt, China, Tunisia and more.

The business model for the organization is leadership centered, where the value proposition is exhibited in a leadership development model aims to create leaders who are self-aware, empowering others, solution oriented and world citizen. And in our model our customers are the participants of our programs who are the youth in Bahrain that we interact with them physically and digitally through our various channels like social media accounts or our universities' visits. The key activities that AIESEC provides to its programs' participants are shown in an inner and outer journey, as the participants go through different activities leaving them impacted and developed. Noted that AIESEC offers practical leadership experiences through its programs, which are listed in Membership, Leap (abroad volunteering program) and Global Internship Program.
