SCOPE

The event is to introduce new graduates to business enterprises in Bahrain. It helps students to establish face-to-face contacts with employers in order to learn about the labor market, how to write CV, business ethics and job interviews.

This increases students confidence to search for employment as well as encouraging them thinking of owning their own businesses. Establishing contact is important for newly graduates due to the information and knowledge they acquire about the challenges and opportunities that the labor market provides for business.

The event is like a training session for students not only helps them to make decisions, but also to prepare them for serving their community.

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this event (workshop and exhibition) is to highlight the importance of investment in education and its impact on the national development in Bahrain.

Human capital empowers the economy to generate linkages, promote innovation, increase diversification and create new job opportunities for nationals.

This will also support the initiatives of the government of Bahrain to implement Vision 2030.

The objective of the event is to reflect on the role that education and knowledge play in labor market flexibility.
