INTRODUCTION

Globally, Virtual Learning trends have replaced physical classrooms during the corona virus pandemic. The aim of this forum is to discuss the positive and negative impacts of the corona virus on Interior Design Practical Education. Moreover, educators, moderators and experts in the field are challenged to transform “practical courses” from face-to-face learning and interaction to virtual learning and practice.

The forum attempts to provide a set of strategies and recommendations in the realm of education leading to a more participatory learning environment. It will also reform ideas with panels’ experts from local and regional academics and professionals.

PROPOSED THEMES

1. Interior Design education during the Covid-19 pandemic.
2. Interior Design professional practice during the Covid-19 pandemic.
